This book attempts to show how an ordinary man and his wife deal with what many people might consider a tragedy. In 1963, they were given an autistic son. There was only limited knowledge in the field of treatment at that time. Although they didn't realize it then, God was using this gift to create in this couple an awareness of His grace. The narrative describes how Mike and Diana were led by God to see that their oldest son, Robert, was to be the instrument that he would use to bring them to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. What is revealed on its pages are mostly a man's perspective. Diana is thinking of writing her own book. Robert went to be with The Lord in January 2009. Before God called him, he was used to make in impact of the lives of many. In his day, and for many years after his death, Abraham Booth was regarded as one of the leading Baptist theologians and thinkers of the eighteenth century. This work provides a primer on Booth's ministry and theology. Excerpt from The Gospel Messenger, 1895, Vol.

17 With humble thankfulness to the God of all grace for his abundant mercy, we greet the readers of the messenger with a short Introductory to its 17th Volume. But what can we say? We cannot look into the future any further than it has already been unfolded to us in the word of God. We have no new revelations but would insist upon a faithful adherence to 'the doctrine of God our Saviour and to all the admonitions, reproofs, and warnings set forth in the Scriptures. We would insist upon an abiding faith in every promise of God that he will not leave or forsake his redeemed people. It is true, no doubt, that in the year now dawning upon us, every child of God will be at times made to feel the need of grace to help him through the toils, sufferings and temptations that are incident to his pilgrimage in this world. But let us remember that our Father hath said He will not suffer you to be tempted above that you are able; but will with the temptation make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it. - 1 Cor. x.13. That little word, safer, in the above text, shows us how completely every temptation, every trial, and every sorrow is regulated and under the control of a loving Father, who will supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus. In view of the predictions of Christ and his apostles, we may in the coming year, as in the past, confidently look for an increased development of human depravity and wickedness among men, for the Spirit speaketh expressly 'that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of devils; Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron - 1 Tim. iv. Men professing godliness will deny its power, and become more and more hardened in sin, and thus bring to pass those perilous times foretold by the apostle. But amidst all the conflicts of faith through which the dear children of God are called to pass, let them not be discouraged, for even the very hairs of their head are all numbered. If not one little sparrow can fall to the ground without our Father's notice, surely his chosen and redeemed people, whom he loves with an everlasting love, are of more value to him than many sparrows. In the coming year we shall doubtless need the help and forbearance of one another in many ways. Let us strive to help, encourage, and strengthen one another to bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. The law of Christ is not fulfilled in us or by us unless we thus help and become partaker of one another's burdens. Thus we become helpers in Christ and fellow-helpers to the truth. - 3 John 8. Jesus called the disciples to follow him in his ministry as God the Father called all the prophets to deliver his message to the people in the Old Testament: "As Jesus walked beside the Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and his brother Andrew casting a net into the lake, for they were fishermen. "Come, follow me, Jesus said, and I will make you fishers of men" At once they left their nets and followed him." (Mark 1:16-17). The first calling of disciples is to follow Jesus and to know him personally as a result of this relationship; they then lead others to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. Christ is still calling people today to follow him; if he calls you please answer his call the reward is great; he is waiting for you and me to take the gospel of God to the end of the earth. Giving My Life to Christ I would advise anyone who is planning to walk with God to consider the path they choose very carefully. I say this because one needs to be fully committed in their Christian pathway. They cannot expect to have one foot in the church and the other feet in the world. the Bible says, "No one can serve two masters for Jehovah is a jealous God" (Exodus 20:3-7). After reviewing my past life and reflecting on the friends I grew up with, most of whom are now dead or in prison, I believe that if I did not follow God, I could have been in the same situation. I used to be a part of a group of roughly seventeen to eighteen young men. However, to date, there are only five of them remaining, including myself. Some of these young men died through illnesses, gang-related warfare, or encounters with police. I know that giving my life to Christ was the best thing I have ever done. I am a witness, a messenger who God is using as an instrument to bring the Word to his people. I now believe that I have found my calling. My thirst for praising and worshiping God is unquenchable. Praise Ye the Lord. Amen. The Messenger by John K. Giattino Some say he seized the simple faith of Jesus and corrupted it. many see him as a humble servant who was only carrying out the mission of his King. So, who was this long-ago tentmaker and missionary, and what does his life and writings have to teach me today? Author Kenneth Schenck bridges time and culture to bring you Paul--Messenger of Grace. Immerse yourself in the life of one of history's most polarizing figures to learn from this background, his conversion, his missionary journeys, and his letters. Schenck delivers more than a narrative recounting of history; each chapter concludes with the author's insightful reflection of how Paul's life and letters can shape our lives more into the image of Christ. Paul--Messenger of Grace covers the earlier part of Paul's life and ministry including 1 Thessalonians, 1 and 2 Corinthians, Galatians, and Philippians--from back cover. In stark opposition to the prosperity gospel that seems to permeate every aspect of the media and large-scale outreach programs today, Dr. Warren P. Chavers takes the stand for getting back to the basics of faith and cleaning up The Mess in the Messenger. By turning away from ministries and ministers of the word preaching that prosperity is the way to salvation, The Mess in the Messenger reminds readers of the true love that God provides and the fulfillment that comes through a relationship with him. Applying the word of God in a practical and timely manner, Chavers delivers a message the world needs to hear: Do not buy the hype. Get back on the road of righteousness and humility. Readers will find themselves armed with Scripture and full of the hope of Jesus Christ and the knowledge that they have the power to recognize The Mess in the Messenger and follow the pure path of the everlasting Lord. Watchman Nee's thesis in this book is that Christ came to mankind by way of the cross, and only by this same way can we know Him. At the source of all spiritual things, he says, stands the cross. Apocalyptic Messenger is an extremely personal volume that delivers sincerity of thought and praise for the Lord Jesus Christ in a unique way. As a compilation of writings, there are varied writing styles including songs, poems, maxims, aphorisms, and fairy tales. As an artist, the attempt was to celebrate God within the pages and encourage thought on the subject of spirituality. What was achieved was a highly detail oriented body of writings that accomplishes that purpose. Unlike anything I have ever seen, Apocalyptic Messenger delivers an extraordinary vision of God as could only be seen by the most honest and soulful of revelations. I have dedicated my entire being to my sustainer by way of my intercessor to do the will I'm assigned. My desire in this life is to see the minds of humanity activated to aim for the narrow way in. I perceive that whoever is exposed to the contents of this media will discern and comprehend its purpose Blessed are the ones that walk not in the council of the ungodly nor stand in the ways of sinners but delight in doing the will of God. They will prosper like trees planted by water that bring fruit in its season and whatever they do will prosper. To the Almighty God be the glory by way of our intercessor who is Christ. Complete the Cycle of Grace How sweet the sound-it saved a wretch like you. It's amazing. But has God's grace changed you? Is it changing others through you? Richard Blackaby explores what may be causing you to miss out on an abundant life of grace, and how simply knowing about it is a far cry from embracing a grace-filled lifestyle. Once you fully experience and grasp its essence, you can't help but "practice" God's undeserved favor by passing it on to everyone around you. Grace shares a close relationship with love, is never static, and is always searching for those willing to receive it. This book focuses on pointed and practical life application so that you can attain the power of gracious living today! Let God's Grace Flow Through You God's grace is so boundless, so contrary to human nature, and so unconditionally given that you will never understand it... ..until you give it away. Get ready to be washed in pure joy, renewed by a fresh sense of gratitude for the rich, undeserved favor God continually bestows upon you. Dr. Richard Blackaby explores what it means to make God's grace a lifestyle and how it will become personal, practical, and recognizable in your life. You'll discover: What genuine grace is and what it is not The power of life words and the devastation of death words The secret to establishing a grace-filled home How to recognize grace-giving opportunities Ways to extend grace when you don't think you can Unable to deny His unconditional love, or even to keep it to yourself, soon grace will have a face. And the reflection in your mirror will tell its story. Amazing Grace, How Sweet the Sound It's a living, breathing testament to the depth of God's love. You don't deserve it, but you've got it. So, what are you doing with God's amazing grace? Many Christians sing of its sweet sound, but fail to extend it to others-missing the point entirely. Putting a Face on Grace provides practical ways you can become a conduit of God's grace to those around you. Dr. Richard Blackaby's personal stories will have you nodding in agreement, laughing with empathetic understanding, and eagerly embracing a new life worth passing on. You will become the essential element that keeps God's life-giving grace flowing. And if you think you're unworthy of such an honor, that's good. That's grace... Story Behind the Book Much has been said about God's grace. Observing it, defining it, soaking it in. But little has been said about bringing it full circle, to the point where we freely receive and give it on a daily basis. This is what lifestyle grace is all about. Richard Blackaby's book hits a market in need, and "reinvents" grace for us all-exploding our understanding of this tremendous gift and bringing it into a new, tangible dimension. We see in the Old Testament that God commanded His prophets, His messenger and those who served him consistently to anoint others for various callings and to accomplish specific tasks. The purpose of Saul's anointing was to dedicate him to God for the special task to which he was called and to impart to him, enabling and empowering him for the tasks at hand God also revealed to Samuel: "About this time tomorrow I will send you to a man from the land of Benjamin. Anoint him leader over my people Israel; he will deliver my people from the hand of the Philistines" (1st Samuel 9:15-16). Even today in the church as written in the New Testament, God sends His prophets, and His messengers, to anoint people for specific tasks within the world and the body of Christ. Even greater, God has sent the Holy Spirit to His people empowering, leading and guiding them into God's will, plans and purposes in their lives, the lives of others and the world. This book will refresh, empower and stir the very Spirit of God within you while empowering you to walk in the very anointing of God that God so graciously has poured out. A Bible study on the story of Jonah in the Old Testament. This study looks at the four chapters of Jonah from a point of view of God's sovereign grace at work in the lives of Jonah and the Ninevites. A broader reference would be how to speak for God in a godless society. Bestselling author Stephanie Grace Whitson's latest historical novel features an adventurous young heroine who works for the Pony Express. Orphaned Annie Paxton and her brothers may have lost the only home they've ever known, but they're determined to make a better future in St. Joseph, Missouri. Annie dreams of a pretty house with window boxes, and having friends, and attending church every week. But then her brothers spot the ad for a new venture called the Pony Express. "Wanted," it reads, "Young, skinny fellows not over eighteen. Must be expert riders and willing to risk death daily. Orphans preferred." Sure enough, both her brothers land jobs as Express messengers, and Annie puts her dreams on hold to work as a cook at Clearwater Ranch, a station along the Pony Express route. Annie struggles to adapt to her new job-work made all the more challenging when she has so many to feed and few ingredients. The gruff station owner, George, doesn't seem inclined to make her life any easier, or at least not at first. But slowly a friendship builds between them. When Annie attracts the attention of a refined, dashing lieutenant from the nearby fort, she'll have to learn how to trust her instincts and follow her heart, even if she's conflicted about which way it's leading her. Time and time again as humans we box ourselves into corners, lose sight of the important things, and fail to heed the creative and intuitive voices that offer us assistance. According to Terry Lynn Taylor, one of the best-known and well-recognized experts on angels, it is in such moments that we should turn to angels. They are always there to help. All we have to do is ask. In her new book, Messengers of Love, Light and Grace, Terry explains how to recognize and access the angels in our lives. She offers a creative approach for having our wants and needs met by calling on our angels to work their magic. According to Terry, this process is far more than angels simply answering our prayers. Rather, they guide us in the right direction through intuitive communications that allow us to generate the answers to our questions and problems ourselves. Short-term missions expert J. Mack Stiles believes we can't separate who we are and how we live from what we say as we interact with people about the good news of Jesus. We need to live out the reconciling forgiveness of God as opposed to loving in the world's way. And when we leave things out of the gospel, not only is the message distorted but so are we as messengers. In this book Stiles shows us an integrated approach to knowing the gospel, living the gospel and speaking the gospel makes us whole, healthy evangelists.
