The Onassis Women Jun 28 2020 "As Aristotle Onassis's personal secretary, Kiki Feroudi Moutsatsos either arranged, witnessed, or heard about every aspect of life in the Onassium during the last decade of the magnate's life, including his longtime affair with Maria Callas, his marriage to Jackie Kennedy, and the death of his son, Alexander." "The Onassis Women is Moutsatsos's privileged insider's account of an incredible man and the objects of his love. Kiki Feroudi Moutsatsos is the only intimate witness to these events still living, and only now is she able to tell her story - a glimpse into the private and often painful world of all of these larger-than-life individuals. She has kept silent for many years, wanting to protect their privacy until the end. In bringing her true stories to light, Moutsatsos shares her memories of their remarkable lives and finally puts to rest the many rumors that have circulated about the Onassis family for so long."--BOOK JACKET. Fashion the Garden Feb 14 2022 Keep calm and garden on: this book is aimed at urban inhabitants, it packs state-of-the-art garden concepts for your home—whether gigantic or trivial, be it a bungalow or an apartment, be it full of greenery or having concrete only, “Fashion the Garden” will prepare the metropolitan garden enthusiasts with important practical savoir-faire, while helping them understand the surroundings and their fundamentals better.

..... “Rishi Shah’s book is full of practical knowledge about urban gardening. It is highly commendable!” Sunita Kohli Padma Shri Architect President of K2 India

..... Dear Rishi you have touched the heart of life by introducing the fashion concept to the houses and convert them in homes. The greenery and gardens are equally important for homes as clean and perfect homes inside. May this new concept that you have introduced inspire many to convert the cement jungles into liveable homes in our metropolis cities. Lots of love dear... Swami Anubhavananda World well-known Vedantic Master.

..... Fashion the Garden addresses the need for greenery and green spaces in the ‘concrete jungle’ of our metro cities. Rishi deserves my compliments for authoring this informative and hands on book at the young age of 15, when he was at Navrachana International School. Tejal Amin Chairperson Navrachana Education Society, Vadodara

..... ‘It is simply astounding how a 15 year old boy can have such profound knowledge and passion for gardening. He surely has a wealth of information on this topic. Me, being a nature lover myself enjoyed reading it. Way to go

rishi! God bless you!' Best Wishes, Nayan Mongia Former International Cricketer

The Strangest Man Mar 30 2023 Paul Dirac was among the great scientific geniuses of the modern age. One of the discoverers of quantum mechanics, the most revolutionary theory of the past century, his contributions had a unique insight, eloquence, clarity, and mathematical power. His prediction of antimatter was one of the greatest triumphs in the history of physics. One of Einstein's most admired colleagues, Dirac was in 1933 the youngest theoretician ever to win the Nobel Prize in physics. Dirac's personality is legendary. He was an extraordinarily reserved loner, relentlessly literal-minded and appeared to have no empathy with most people. Yet he was a family man and was intensely loyal to his friends. His tastes in the arts ranged from Beethoven to Cher, from Rembrandt to Mickey Mouse. Based on previously undiscovered archives, The Strangest Man reveals the many facets of Dirac's brilliantly original mind. A compelling human story, The Strangest Man also depicts a spectacularly exciting era in scientific history.

The Wall-paper News and Interior Decoration Nov 25 2022
Around 1981 Mar 25 2020 Jane Gallop's book offers a clear-eyed and comprehensive history of feminist literary criticism. Why, she asks, have we so quickly buried 1970s feminist criticism? What lies buried there? Why do 1990s academic feminists accuse other academic feminists of being 'academic'? Gallop takes the novel approach of structuring her inquiry around anthologies of feminist criticism: twelve important texts that have had a wide impact on more than a decade of scholarship. In reading an anthology as a whole, she typically identifies a central, hegemonic voice (usually that of the editor/s) which would organise all the voices into a unity, and then explores the resistance within that volume to such a unity. Weight is placed behind these internal differences as a wedge against the centrist drive. Around 1981 addresses briefly 'french feminism' and psychoanalytic feminism before focusing on its principal subject: the mainstream of feminist literary criticism, before and after its general acceptance as part of the changing institution of literary studies. This brilliantly illuminates the dilemma of the feminist critic, divided by her allegiance to both feminism and literary studies.

Material Spirituality in Modernist Women's Writing Dec 03 2020 For Virginia Woolf, H.D., Mary Butts and Gwendolyn Brooks, things mobilise creativity, traverse domestic, public and rural spaces and stage the interaction between the sublime and the mundane. Ordinary things are rendered extraordinary by their spiritual or emotional significance, and yet their very ordinariness remains part of their value. This book addresses the intersection of spirituality, things and places – both natural and built environments – in the work of these four women modernists. From the living pebbles in Mary Butts's memoir to the pencil sought in Woolf's urban pilgrimage in 'Street Haunting', the Christmas decorations crafted by children in H.D.'s autobiographical novel The Gift and Maud Martha's love of dandelions in Brooks's only novel, things indicate spiritual concerns in these writers' work. Elizabeth Anderson contributes to current debates around materiality, vitalism and post-secularism, attending to both mainstream and heterodox spiritual expressions and connections between the two in modernism. How we value our spaces and our world being one of the most pressing contemporary ethical and ecological concerns, this volume contributes to the debate by arguing that a change in our attitude towards the environment will not come from a theory of renunciation but through attachment to and regard for material things.

The Diary of Elizabeth Drinker Feb 02 2021 The journal of Philadelphia Quaker Elizabeth Sandwith Drinker (1735-1807) is perhaps the single most significant personal record of eighteenth-century life in America from a woman's perspective. Drinker wrote in her diary nearly continuously between 1758 and 1807, from two years before her marriage to the night before her last illness. The extraordinary span and sustained quality of the journal make it a rewarding document for a multitude of historical purposes. One of the most prolific early American diarists—her journal runs to thirty-six manuscript volumes—Elizabeth Drinker saw English colonies evolve into the American nation while Drinker herself changed from a young unmarried woman into a wife, mother, and grandmother. Her journal entries touch on every contemporary subject political, personal, and familial. Focusing on different stages of Drinker's personal development within the domestic context, this abridged edition highlights four critical phases of her life cycle: youth and courtship, wife and mother, middle age in years of crisis, and grandmother and family elder. There is little that escaped Elizabeth Drinker's quill, and her diary is a delight not only for the information it contains but also for the way in which she conveys her world across the centuries.

Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Apr 18 2022 »Digital Culture & Society« is a refereed, international journal, fostering discussion about the ways in which digital technologies, platforms and applications reconfigure daily lives and practices. It offers a forum for critical analysis and inquiries into digital media theory and provides a publication environment for interdisciplinary research approaches, contemporary theory developments and methodological innovation. The third issue »Politics of Big Data« edited by Mark Coté, Paolo Gerbaudo, and Jennifer Pybus, critically examines the political and economic dimensions of Big Data and thus details its contestation. The contributions focus on the materialities and processes which manifest Big Data and explore forms of value beyond the state and capital. These range from open data initiatives, social media metrics, machine learning algorithms, data visualisation to data dashboards, critical data analysis, and new modes of data action research and practice.
