Widely known as the Queen of American Hymn Writers," Fanny Crosby wrote between 8500 and 9500 hymns. This 10-song collection of some of her most popular hymns has been beautifully arranged by Stan Pethel. Contents include: Close to Thee, Jesus is Calling, To God Be the Glory, He Hideth My Soul, Blessed Assurance, and more." Hymn tune organ arrangements for the worship service. Hymns include: O Worship The King, Jesus Lover Of My Soul, and God Of Our Fathers. Craig Curry takes a tasteful, contemporary look at hymns having to do with spiritual sight: Be Thou My Vision, Open My Eyes, Turn Your Eyes Upon Jesus, and more. Lush harmonies and creative rhythms enhance these prelude and offertory selections, which are also fitting for concerts and recitals. Reprint of the original, first published in 1872. A hymnal featuring the greatest hymns of church history and today. Includes over 850 hymns and psalms, with a ranging mix of traditional, modern and material drawn from across the Christian world - primarily the USA and New Zealand, but also translations and adaptations of material from Hong Kong, Singapore, Korea, Japan and

Zimbabwe. Traditional American Hymn for Easy Piano A Silver Tonalities Arrangement! Easy Note Style Sheet Music Letter Names of Notes embedded in each Notehead! Traditional Hymn for Easy Piano A Silver Tonalities Arrangement! Easy Note Style Sheet Music Letter Names of Notes embedded in each Notehead! Songs of Grace and Glory is so valuable and also extremely obscure today. Few people early in the 21st century have ever heard of this hymnbook, and very few if any today realize the enormous, costly effort and time that Charles Busbridge Snep and Frances Ridley Havergal gave to complete this collection of hymns. Here was true diligence, and much thought, labor, sacrifice in time and effort, a labor of love. Extremely few people today realize the remarkably fine gifts Frances Ridley Havergal had in music. As a performer and as a composer she had a rare level of gifts, and she was very diligent with her gifts. Her father, Rev. William Henry Havergal, was the foremost church musician and composer of sacred music in England in his generation, and he was a leading advocate for reform in the practice and taste of church music. Rev. Charles Busbridge Snep, an Anglican pastor, was a hymnologist with an important collection of hymnbooks, a deep interest in hymns, and a desire to bring out a new, comprehensive hymnal. Snep had written to William Henry about this project, and on the morning of W.H.H.'s last conscious day, he composed a score for a hymn in Snep's new project, Songs of Grace and Glory. The next day, April 17, 1870, Easter, he was seized with apoplexy and never regained consciousness, dying on April 19. Rev. Snep after that wrote to his daughter, F.R.H., and later they concluded that she would edit the music for the new hymnal. Though so extremely obscure today, Songs of Grace and Glory is a true treasure of worship in song, a gold mine strongly worthy to be republished today, studied by church musicians, and used in worship in our day. Snep was the architect and leader of the work and the editor of the texts, and F.R.H. prepared and edited all of the music (only six or eight scores remained to be finished when she died so unexpectedly early at forty-two and a half). Beyond the labor-with great skill-in preparing all of the music scores and texts for 1,100 hymns, Frances also wrote a number of the hymns newly, specifically for this book, and also composed a number of hymn scores for S.G.G. This is an enormous and enormously impressive body of work. Frances directly prepared for press the scores of 1,100 hymns, and after she thought that her work was completed on this, she learned that the papers and plates for the Appendix at the printer had been lost in a devastating fire, so that she would need to do all of the work on the Appendix again. In the British Library, a copy of Songs of Grace and Glory is dated 1883 with "Three Hundred and Thirteenth Thousand" on the title page. The work began with Havergal's Psalmody and Century of Chants, a republication of three of William Henry's earlier volumes of hymn scores, Old Church Psalmody (1847), A Hundred Psalm and Hymn Tunes (1859), and A Century of Chants (1870), with other previously unpublished scores by W.H.H. and also a few scores composed by Frances, all edited by F.R.H. and published by Robert Cocks & Co., London, 1871. Cocks published a second and a third edition (the third edition in 1872). James Nisbet & Co. published the fourth edition in 1877. Havergal's Psalmody and Century of Chants was a "Companion Volume to Songs of Grace and Glory." The music in H.P.C.C. was the music for the hymns in Songs of Grace and Glory. S.G.G. was published in a number of editions. Co-authors and brothers Gary and Larry Turner touched singer's lives when they shared their collection of songs of praise and worship, Songs To The Glory Of God. Now they're back with a new collection that is equally inspiring as the first, Songs To The Glory Of God Volume II. Of these songs, Gary Turner shares, "The Godhead has truly been my inspiration. The songs were written to glorify God. I certainly pray that they will be an inspiration to you and that they will move you to glorify His name." After his retirement Mr. Gary Turner made a commitment to the Lord that he would write a song for every week in the year. Songs To The Glory Of God Volume II is filled with 87 songs with divinely inspired lyrics and music. Larry Turner, an accomplished musician, arranged all the music in this hymn book. Another beautiful addition to one's musical repertoire, Songs To The Glory Of God Volume II reveals the essence and beauty of God's love through His Son, Jesus. It will help lead believers into praise and worship, rejuvenating their faith and strengthening their belief in God. This pew-sized edition of the hymnal contains all the words from the pew edition, enlarged in a more-readable type and bound for use in worship. 8 They girt me with Adamant [also] That hath power to cut even iron. 9 My Glorious Robe they took off me Which in their love they had wrought me, 10 And my Purple Mantle [also] Which was woven to match with my stature. 11 And with me They [then] made a compact; In my heart wrote it, not to forget it: 8 They girt me with Adamant [also] That hath power to cut even iron. 9 My Glorious Robe they took off me Which in their love they had wrought me, 10 And my Purple Mantle [also] Which was woven to match with my stature. 11 And with me They [then] made a compact; In my heart wrote it, not to forget it: 12 "If thou goest down into Egypt, And thence thou bring'st the one Pearl-- 13 "[The Pearl] that lies in the Sea, Hard by the loud-breathing Serpent, -- 14 "[Then] shalt Thou put on thy Robe And thy Mantle that goeth upon it, 15 "And with thy Brother, Our Second, Shalt thou be Heir in our Kingdom." A sourcebook offering suggestions for hymns and worship songs linked to the readings for every Sunday, principal holy day and major festival in years A, B and C. The hymns, therefore, of Damiani, and those of the few following centuries which precede the revival of classical literature, are to be regarded, not as unshackling themselves from the fetters of verse, but as continuing uninterruptedly, and developing to nobler uses indigenous Latin poetry, now that, with the decay of ancient learning, the authors of Greece, and their Roman imitators, had almost wholly disappeared from view. The addition of rhyme was a natural consequence of the entire abandonment of quantity, and is by no means to be attributed to Saracenic or Gothic influence. In Damiani's trochaics, as in Spanish verse, it is confined mostly to the final vowel; but the construction of all such tetrameter metre requires that it be limited, at all events, to the catalectic and final syllable. When, indeed, as soon afterwards, the verse was divided, the change required the disyllabic or trochee rhyme, which gives new grandeur to such hymns as the "Dies iræ," with the optional reservation of the latter portion of the line, consisting of seven syllables, for an intermitted cadence resembling the paroemiatic of the Greek ?anap?æstic system, as in the "Stabat Mater." Besides the happy addition of rhyme, these rhythmical trochaics possess this superiority over those constr?cted on the Grecian model, that, losing at the same time a great deal of its monotony, they adapt themselves more readily to every emotion of the mind, by elevating or lowering the intensity of the arsis, though the character of the thought may be contemplative, sorrowful, or jubilant by turns. Severely addicted, as I must be supposed to be, to versification of the stricter and more classical order, I must confess my sympathy with those who take extreme delight in the sacred Latin poetry of the Middle Ages, in which that language seems for the first time to have put forth its full power, and, in wholly discarding imitation, to have become inimitable itself. Theologically such compositions are entirely unobjectionable; for the finest examples, like Damiani's Hymn, are as uniformly evangelical, and as purely scriptural, as the readers of the pious effusions of Watts, or Wesley, or Author: John Newton, of which we are here so perpetually reminded, could themselves desire. They have little in common with the Church of Rome. They reflect none of her manifold corruptions; and she has done what she could to diminish their surpassing purity and power. These heartfelt arrangements are some of Martha Mier's favorite hymns. Their warm melodies and rich harmonies will bring hope, solace, and the nearness of God to listeners and performers alike. To assist in planning, approximate performance times are included with each arrangement. Titles: Amazing Grace * His Eye Is on the Sparrow * In the Garden * It Is Well with My Soul * Jesus Loves Me * Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee * Morning Has Broken * My Jesus, I Love Thee * Near to the Heart of God * This Is My Father's World * Turn Your Eyes upon Jesus * What a Friend We Have in Jesus. A Federation Festivals 2020-2024 selection. This collection fills the need for organ music for Trinity. Robert Powell has arranged six familiar hymn tunes at the upper-intermediate level. Titles are: * All Glory Be to God on High * Ancient of Days * Praise to God the Father * Prelude on 'Charleston' * Round the Lord in Glory Seated * We Give Immortal Praise. Church organists are sure to love this long-needed collection. "Portions of this book were previously published as downloadable studies on the Presbyterian Leader, www.ThePresbyterianLeader.com."
